

SERENITY

Reliable performance. Reproducible results.

Given the current state of research being in a “reproducibility crisis”, it is now more important than ever to use antibodies and reagents from manufacturers that effectively validate their products. Our high ratings on Biocompare’s Antibody survey, our top ranking in citation growth from 2010 to 2016 (Pivotal Scientific report), and our tremendous growth all testify to the high standards in which BioLegend produces quality, world-class research antibodies and reagents, at a great value. We’ve taken great strides to ensure the reproducibility of our products to give you peace of mind in trusting your results.
