IMMUNOLOGY FACULTY POSITION

The Center for Immunity, Inflammation and Regenerative Medicine Department of Medicine

The Center for Immunity, Inflammation and Regenerative Medicine (CIIR) in the Department of Medicine at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant, Associate or Full Professor. We seek candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: innate immunity, regulation of leukocyte activation, lymphocyte trafficking or immune cell signaling. Candidates must have a Ph.D., M.D. or equivalent degree and at least 2 years of postdoctoral experience. The successful candidate is expected to establish and maintain an independent and well-funded research program that will complement and extend CIIR research programs.

CIIR research programs include immunity to viral pathogens, immune cell interactions, and immunological aspects of autoimmune diseases and kidney injury. Affiliated research programs include clinically related areas of medicine, infectious diseases, oncology, gastroenterology, and cardiovascular disease. Collaborative research projects are possible and will be encouraged. The University provides excellent research space and outstanding core facilities for molecular and cellular research, including state of the art flow cytometry.

Interested applicants should send a cover letter with a C.V. (including names and addresses of three individuals who can provide reference) and a statement of research interests to:
